

Personal Injury Fraud

We have now entered the cultural age of litigation. The United Kingdom is becoming a "litigious nation" and because of this compensation claims are fast and furious. Personal Injury claims are dramatically increasing and in some quarters employers and insurance companies are seen as "fair game". They have become targets for some unscrupulous people who seek long term financial gain.

Certain individuals are making spurious claims which are having an alarming effect on budgets and insurance premiums. Through painstaking enquiries and sophisticated surveillance we have been able to rebut illegitimate claims and provide irrefutable evidence of bogus claims. We have ultimately saved our clients astronomical, long-term pay-outs.

Surveillance evidence prepared in a highly professional manner has been submitted to plaintiffs' legal representatives and avoided the necessity for lengthy hearings. By this method we have not only negated incapacity claims but kept the legal costs to an absolute minimum.

Sometimes it is preferable for our operatives to make home visits and enquiries on behalf of employers. We take great care in accurately video recording all movements which may have a crucial effect on the outcome of a case.

Our operatives are experienced in giving evidence at court and presenting evidence in a forthright and comprehensive manner. We are ever conscious of Industrial Tribunals and the rules applied in these cases
