

Forensic Investigations

Surelock has a wealth of knowledge in the field of forensic science with the experience to know where, when, how and why particular disciplines have to be used in a given set of circumstances. Forensic science has been popularised on television and portrayed as the preserve of murder investigations. It is not.

The submission and expert examination of hand-writing samples under controlled laboratory conditions has been used to disprove malicious allegations and convict fraudsters. Thorough investigations of crime scenes by our operatives have proved invaluable in the detection of crimes and conviction of offenders.

The use of photographic and plan-drawing evidence have proved and disproved theories. Major insurance claims have relied upon the tangible evidence collected by our team.

Surelock have investigated major crimes, both in the United Kingdom and abroad in conjunction with pathologists, ballistics experts, scenes of crime examiners and forensic scientists.

We have liaised with law enforcement agencies on behalf of the relatives of victims of crimes and have re-investigated matters on behalf of defendants and their legal teams.
